LETTER FROM THE DIRECTOR

Thank you for attending The Parks Chamber 3rd Annual Golf Outing.

We're delighted to host you at today's sold-out event, and we're grateful for our sponsors, golfers, raffle prize donors, vendors, and NFL celebrities.

Proceeds from this outing support our mission of helping businesses succeed with the right tools, connections, and resources ... And now, more than ever, small businesses need leadership and support.

During this economic downturn, The Parks Chamber has been advocating for a competitive business climate while collaborating with public, private, and nonprofit leaders from our multi-county region on innovative strategies to help our businesses survive, recover, and thrive. We understand that today's issues are too big for any single entity to handle; therefore, we're leading initiatives together that combine, link, and leverage assets for long-term impact.

Just last week, for example, Fast Company featured gener8tor's Emergency Response Program, which The Parks Chamber implemented in 2020 to help our members and businesses in Loves Park and Machesney Park stay afloat. Resources offered through the program included webinars and one-on-one consultations about how to pivot to doing business virtually and how to take advantage of federal, state, local, and private sources of funding and support.

Today, The Parks Chamber is taking a more active role in representing our members' business interests, from co-creating strategies that address workforce shortages to creating a new Legislative Event Series that will directly connect our members with elected and government officials.

We invite you to learn more about The Parks Chamber, our members, and their products and services, by visiting us online at ParksChamber.com. If you're not yet a member of the chamber, we invite you to join us today!

Sincerely,

Tonya Lamia, Executive Director
